God Created Humans to Enjoy Beauty

It's not only okay to enjoy beauty and seek it for ourselves, but it's also what God created us to do. God has given us beauty throughout nature with majestic mountains, enchanting valleys, vast oceans, white sandy beaches that seem to stretch forever, quiet estuaries, and mighty rivers that carry themselves for thousands of miles. We also find tremendous beauty in the great variety of creatures God made to inhabit the earth, but the most magnificent creatures of all are humans.

On the entire earth, you will find no two people who are exactly alike—even identical twins. The breadth of God's creation is overwhelming when we pause to consider the many kinds of matter we find in the universe. This is one reason we are so enthralled with viewing creation and photographing it: we want to hold on to this tremendous beauty, at least for a moment in time, and archive it so we can remember it in the future.

We want beauty because God set it in our hearts to find our contentment and happiness only in him, the source of all goodness and love. Thankfully, God did not leave us to perish without hope: Jesus, the second Person of the Trinity, came to free us from ourselves so that we could fully live unto God.

Bringing beauty to our churches, homes, and communities is what God created us to do—and it is a witness to the Holy Spirit's sanctifying work in our lives as Christians, as well as a witness to the faith we seek to share with others.

Let us live a life that is pleasing to God, let us find beauty in and around us. LIFE IS BEAUTIFUL.

God Bless.

Fr. Roshan Loy D'Souza, CSC
